

DEPARTMENT OF CHINESE DRAMA

Address: 55 Hwa Kang Road, Yang Ming Shan, Taipei City,
11114, Taiwan. Da Ren Building, 4th Floor.

Phone: (02) 2861-0511 Ext. 39505 (Assistant Professor Qiu),
Ext. 39506 (Assistant Professor Nie).

Email: crmdcd@dep.pccu.edu.tw

Department Website

Strengths of the Department

Our department integrates elements of traditional Chinese opera, physical performance, and various theatrical components, merging them with contemporary Western theater. This unique approach aims to cultivate versatile theater professionals with a fusion of both Eastern and Western influences. Our singular educational philosophy and objectives not only inherit tradition but also adapt to a new teaching direction that aligns with future market demands.

Departmental Features

Emphasis on Performance and Physical Training

Balanced Integration of Eastern and Western Elements in the Curriculum

Faculty Professionalism

Rich Performance Activities, Strengthening Practical Theater Training

Curriculum Design

The curriculum design of our department is based on the teaching methodology of traditional Chinese opera performance elements. We utilize performances to guide instruction, fostering talent through practical training and establishing a distinctive performance style within our department.

Employment Prospects

Our department combines academic knowledge with practical performance, providing students with a rich set of employable skills, allowing them to stand out in the professional arena. Employment opportunities include various fields such as traditional Chinese opera, film and television, scriptwriting, directing, mass communication, academia, cultural and creative industries, stage technology, and arts administration. Many outstanding alumni from our department have excelled in their careers across these diverse sectors.

Teaching Resources

The Yu Dagang Memorial Scholarship is awarded to five students each academic year, with each recipient receiving 2,000 NT dollars.

The Liao Ping-Chang Mr. Impoverished Students' Scholarship is granted to three students each academic year, with each awardee receiving 30,000 NT dollars.

The Liu Dazhong Memorial Scholarship is awarded to one student each academic year, with the recipient receiving 30,000 NT dollars.

The Huakang Scholarship is awarded to the top three students in each grade every semester. The first-place winner receives 8,000 NT dollars, the second-place winner receives 5,000 NT dollars, and the third-place winner receives 2,000 NT dollars.